The product at a quick glance

Viagra Super Active is a soft gel formulation containing sildenafil citrate for treating erectile dysfunction in adult men. The soft gel format is intended to disintegrate quickly in the stomach, which for some users can mean a faster start of action compared with conventional tablets.

Sildenafil is the chief active ingredient (as citrate). Typical marketed doses include 100 mg and 150 mg soft gel capsules. This medicine is intended for adult males with ED and is not suitable for children or for female use.

How to utilize

Swallow the soft gel capsule whole with water. It can be taken with or without food, but a heavy or fatty meal may slow the onset. Do not exceed a single capsule within any 24 hour period.

- When is the right time to take it: typically 15 to 20 minutes before anticipated sexual activity; individual timing may vary.
- Food and drink: avoid large fatty meals before dosing; alcohol can impair erections and increase temporary side effects such as dizziness.
- Missed today: this medication is taken as needed, so do not take an extra dose if you have missed an intended dose.

Excessive dose of medication: if someone takes too much or the medicine is taken accidentally, contact the Poisons Information Centre on 13 11 26 or call emergency services on 000 based in Australia. Signs of significant suspected overdose include severe dizziness, fainting, chest pain, or a prolonged painful erection.

Reciprocal effective conversational exchanges require clear communication. among drugs

Certain medicines and substances can dangerously amplify sildenafil effects or cause a large fall in blood pressure. Do not combine. Viagra Super Active with:

- Any nitrates (for example nitroglycerin, isosorbide dinitrate or mononitrate) or recreational "poppers" that contain amyl nitrite.
- Riociguat is a treatment for pulmonary hypertension.
- Nitroprusside can decrease systemic vascular resistance.
- Other PDE5 inhibitors or other sildenafil-containing products at the same time (for example Revatio, tadalafil, vardenafil, avanafil).

Use caution and speak with a clinician before combining with:

- Alpha blockers for prostate or blood pressure problems such as doxazosin or tamsulosin; they can add to blood pressure lowering.
- HIV protease inhibitors and certain antiviral regimens.
- Among azole antifungals, the key agents include ketoconazole, itraconazole, fluconazole, and voriconazole.
- Erythromycin and analogous macrolide antibiotics or clarithromycin.
- Cimetidine brand Tagamet and generic forms and some other medicines that alter sildenafil metabolism.
- Strong enzyme inducers such as rifampicin, carbamazepine or phenytoin which may reduce sildenafil levels.
- Grapefruit or grapefruit juice, which can increase blood levels of sildenafil.

Alert signals and preventive measures

Prior to commencing this medicine tell your prescriber if you have or have had any of the following conditions:

- Cardiac problems such as angina, irregular heartbeat, heart failure, recent heart attack, or a history of stroke.
- Blood pressure that is too high or too low.
- Severe impairment of hepatic or renal function.
- Eye disorders including retinitis pigmentosa or any recent sudden loss of vision.
- Blood disorders that increase the risk of priapism, for example sickle cell disease, leukemia or multiple myeloma, or any penile anatomical deformities.
- Known allergy to sildenafil or any capsule excipients.

Stop sexual activity and seek urgent medical attention if you experience chest pain, severe lightheadedness, nausea that spreads to the jaw or arm, or fainting during sex. If an erection lasts more than 4 hours or is painful, call emergency services. Prompt medical assessment is necessary for sudden loss of vision or hearing.

Do not use this medicine if a clinician has told you to avoid sexual activity for health reasons. Giddiness can occur; be cautious when driving or operating machinery until you know how sildenafil affects you.

Separate options and other backup options

If sildenafil soft gels are unsuitable or not preferred, several other PDE5 inhibitors and non oral treatments exist. Choice depends on onset, duration, side effect profile and personal factors.

- Tadalafil (Cialis or generic): may begin in about 30 minutes and can last up to 36 hours; available as daily low dose or on demand dosing.
- Sildenafil tablets (standard Viagra or generic): same active drug as the soft gel; typical onset 30 to 60 minutes and duration around 4 hours.
- Avanafil; Spedra: often a faster onset for some users, commonly 15 to 30 minutes, with effects lasting about 4 to 6 hours.
- Vardenafil (Levitra or generic): onset roughly 30 to 60 minutes; duration around 4 to 6 hours; orodispersible forms exist in some countries.

Second line or device based therapies include vacuum erection devices, intracavernosal injections or urethral suppositories of alprostadil, psychosexual therapy, and targeted hormone therapy when low testosterone is confirmed. These options require clinical assessment.

All PDE5 inhibitors share risks of interpersonal dialogue and exchange with nitrates and certain cardiovascular medicines. See Drug the reciprocal contact between individuals management details are provided here.

Prices charged in Australia for the AUD market

Costs depend on brand, strength, pack size and point of sale. Erectile dysfunction medicines for ED are typically not subsidised by the PBS, so most purchases are private. The following are approximate retail ranges and are indicative only.

- Viagra Super Active soft gel (100 to 150 mg): not commonly stocked in community pharmacies in Australia; when legitimately obtained through prescription or approved import channels, prices can range roughly from AUD 2 to AUD 7 per capsule, excluding clinician consultation and shipping.
- Generic sildenafil tablets 50 to 100 mg: frequently around AUD 1 to AUD 5 per tablet depending on pack size and supplier.
- Tadalafil 10 to 20 mg (brand or generic): commonly about AUD 8 to AUD 25 per tablet; the cost of daily low dose regimens can change monthly outlay.
- Vardenafil 10 to 20 mg: often AUD 12 to AUD 25 per tablet.
- Avanafil 100 to 200 mg: often in the range AUD 15 to AUD 30 per tablet.

These estimates do not include telehealth fees, in person consultations, prescription charges or delivery costs. Prices change over time, so confirm current local price list from pharmacies or licensed online suppliers.
